MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A message was received from the Governor by Mr. W. G. Hutcheson, Recording Secretary, which was read by the Clerk, as follows:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Montgomery, Alabama, Nov. 15th, 1882.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

You are assembled in biennial session, to consider the condition of the State, to correct errors and supply defects in legislation, and, within the constitutional limitations on your power, to provide for the general welfare. You are just from the homes of the people, with whose wants and wishes you are acquainted; and you will faithfully endeavor to justify the confidence they have reposed in your intelligence and patriotism. Your duties will be arduous, exacting, and difficult. You will have much to do, and the constitution limits the period of your labors. You will have to act on many matters to which you have given little attention and to consider many questions comparatively new to you. Your acts will be spread upon the public records, and for them you will account to jealous constituencies little disposed to make allowance for lack of experience, errors of judgment, or want of information. It is one of the hardships of the public service, that the best intentions and the purest motives are no excuse for such mistakes as the wisest and best will sometimes make; but in the closest scrutiny and sharpest criticism of the acts of their servants, the people exercise their right of control over administration. It is right that those distinguished by their fellow-citizens with trusts and honors and authority should act at their peril; for thus caution, and care, and diligence, and fidelity are enforced by an ever-present power whose vigilance never sleeps and whose judgments are final. It will be a happy day for the State if you so acquit yourselves here that each on going hence shall receive the welcome plaudit, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant!"

There will be much for you to do; but it is safer to leave something undone than to do too much. Too much legislation is a fruitful source of vexation and complaint. In our own experience, we have seen each General Assembly repealing the acts of its predecessors, and passing acts to be repealed by its successors. When the necessity for legislation, or the form of legislation, is doubtful, it is wise to wait until the doubt is removed. Hasty and unconsidered legislation is even a more frequent evil than unnecessary legislation. In the hurry and press of business, when the mind is constantly diverted from one thing to another, and there is little opportunity for close thought and patient study, the most capable and experienced legislators often overlook more or less material defects in bills submitted for their consideration, the general tenor and purpose of which are approved; and these, enacted, become laws which are carried to the courts for construction, and the legislature which passed and the Governor who approved them are censured as incompetent or thoughtless law-makers. In nothing else is it so important to remember, that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well, as in legislation.

EIGHT YEARS AGO.

The wisdom and the practicability of the sweeping reforms in the administration of the business affairs of the State inaugurated in the latter part of 1874, and carried out with vigor and fidelity through four executive terms, are demonstrated in the present financial condition of the government. When these reforms were undertaken, the State was bankrupt in means and credit. The people were taxed beyond their ability to pay, and the treasury was empty. Interest on the bonded debt was unpaid, and a floating indebtedness of hundreds of thousands of dollars had accumulated. From 1870-1 to 1873-4 inclusive, the annual revenues of the State from taxation averaged nearly $1,100,000. This was expended; and as, from time to time, the Auditor's warrants and State certificates, representing accumulated deficits, could be no longer floated, money was borrowed to reduce them and carry on the government. In 1872-3, $1,000,000 of bonds were sold and the proceeds put into the treasury and $120,000 was borrowed. In 1873-4, $1,000,000 eight per centum obligations were issued and paid out from the treasury as money. On the 30th of September, 1874, the nominal treasury balance was $376,442; but of this there was but $22,554 of lawful currency, and against it stood about $400,000 of outstanding certificates.

The situation was apparently hopeless. The State was without money. It was without credit. It was largely in debt for the current expenses of preceding years. Interest on its bonds was unpaid. Bonds to the amount of many millions of dollars had been irregularly or fraudulently issued or endorsed, or issued or endorsed under acts obtained by open bribery and corruption, for railroad purposes. A great financial convulsion had just swept over the country, and its effects were still felt everywhere. Business men of all classes were struggling with difficulties from which extrication seemed impossible; and agriculturists, the stay and strength of the State, in debt and without the accommodations to which they had been accustomed, were almost hopelessly, but heroically, endeavoring to cultivate some portion of their lands and to save their mortgaged homes from ruinous sale. Property was almost without a cash value, and the payment of taxes was a hardship to many who had never before felt the weight of so light an imposition.

It was the mind of a statesman that comprehended the situation in all its terrible length and breadth, and the hand of a master that applied the remedy. The collection of a greater revenue was impossible. The people could not bear an additional feather's weight to their burdens. In sweeping retrenchment everywhere, and relentless economy in every department, was the only hope of the government. In 1874-5 the receipts from taxation were less than in the preceding year. No bonds were sold. No loans were negotiated. No scrip of any kind was put in circulation. Every warrant drawn upon the treasury was paid. Outstanding certificates to the amount of $352,000 were redeemed and destroyed. It was a wonderful work; but it was only the beginning. The bonded debt, honest and fraudulent, valid and invalid, was to be so adjusted and settled as to re-assert the honor of the State and re-establish its credit without oppressing the people with burdens beyond their strength. This was provided for in 1875-6. There has since been no departure from the methods by which so much was wrought in so short a time. Now, Alabama has a manageable bonded debt, no floating obligations, a credit equal to that of the richest and most prosperous of the States that were never despoiled by the alien and the enemy, and a treasury altogether too plethoric, while its tax rate has been reduced, and its people, only eight years ago in the "Slough of Despond," are prospering, contented, hopeful, and happy.

FROM 1874 TO 1882.

In the following tabular summary of the business operations of the government since 1874, the discrepancy between the reports of the Auditor and of the Treasurer, to which your attention was called two years ago, is taken into consideration. Ordinarily, the differences between the balances shown by these reports would be the sum of the warrants drawn by the Auditor and unpaid at the treasury. The Auditor's report should show the balance in the treasury after the payment of all warrants drawn by him. The Treasurer's report gives the actual balance at its date. At the close of the last fiscal year there were outstanding warrants to the amount of only $118.16. This should be the difference between the books of the Auditor and of the Treasurer. The difference is $39,588.27. Above the sum of outstanding warrants ($118.16), this is accounted for by

Auditor's warrants cancelled or revoked years ago and irregularities and errors in book-keeping previous to 1874, amounting, as nearly as can be ascertained, to $36,602.17, and by $2,926.74 paid by the Treasurer in 1878-9 to certain counties on account of tax on Express companies, collected by the State, for which the Auditor, for reasons stated on page 4 of his report for 1879, did not give him credit, though it was paid on the Auditor's warrants drawn in pursuance of law and in obedience to a writ of mandamus from the City Court of Montgomery. Except as to this $2,926.74, there is agreement between the books of the Treasurer and of the Auditor since 1874. In the following table these errors are corrected as nearly as possible, as they should be on the books of the Auditor, whose reports ought to show the exact financial condition of the State:

Since 1876, it will be seen that there has been a steady increase in interest payments, as the refunding of the bonded debt has progressed, and for the last two years in consequence of the increased rate on the new bonds. In 1874-5 the only payments on interest account were $20,280 on the bonds held by the Agricultural and Mechanical College, and $53,005.11 on State obligations. In 1877-8, interest was paid on the bonded debt to the amount of $188,012 and on State obligations to the amount of $67,270. In 1880 the eight per centum obligations were refunded in six per centum bonds, and henceforth constitute part of the bonded debt proper. In the year just closed, the interest payments amounted to $338,818.50. This does not include interest on the University fund and on the school fund. The interest payments in 1881-2 were $83,536 greater than in 1877-8, and the total disbursements were only $45,721.13 greater. The expenses of the government (not including interest, which is a charge and not an expense), were $37,815 less in 1881-2 than in 1877-8, showing the steadiness with which the economic practices of my predecessor have been pursued during the four years last past.

THE BONDED DEBT.

The debt settlement provided for by the act of February 23, 1876, has been practically completed. There yet remain outstanding a few of the old bonds for which provision is made. As they come in, new bonds, bearing interest from the date of issue, are exchanged for them. It is probable the most of those still out, are lost or destroyed. In two years, but $146,300 of the new bonds, of all classes, have been issued. The total bonded debt, including $253,500 of eight per centum bonds held by the Agricultural and Mechanical College, is now $9,407,800, on which the interest charge is $343,929. There will be no further increase in the rate of interest on any class of bonds until January, 1887, when class A bonds will advance to four per centum.

THE OUTLOOK.

I was thought extravagant when two years ago I estimated that at the close of the fiscal year 1881-2 there would be in the treasury an available balance of $237,000, exclusive of the obligations, then practically retired, and of other unavailable funds. That balance was $471,427.33; or, more than twice as much as I ventured to predict it would be, and that on a reduced tax rate. This gratifying result follows largely increased valuations for revenue purposes, and closer collections. That much of the property in the State has been assessed far below its real value, that much of it had escaped assessment, and that in many places collections had not been diligently and faithfully made, were indisputable facts; and the General Assembly of 1880-1, fully realizing that a just distribution of the burdens of government can only be secured through equal assessments and the faithful collection of taxes, made some provision for the correction of these evils.

In the meantime, there was a marked and unmistakable improvement in the material condition of the people, embracing every interest and extending to every portion of the State; and the market values of all real and all personal property were greatly enhanced. In consequence, partly of more stringent legislation, partly of a more faithful discharge of duty by assessors and collectors, partly of the prevalence of better market values, and partly of the greater ability of the people to pay, there has been an increase in the revenues of the State beyond any reasonable expectation. Two years ago there were apprehensions that with the greater interest payments soon to follow on an increase in the rate on the bonds of 1876, the State might have difficulty in meeting its obligations and keeping its plighted faith; and a slight reduction in the tax rate was made against the judgment of many intelligent and practical men. We now see the result would have justified a greater reduction. The valuation of property for taxation has been for six years as follows: 1876, $135,535,792; 1877, $130,799,138; 1878, $126,773,262; 1879, $123,757,072; 1880, $139,077,328, and 1881, $152,920,115. So far as the abstracts have been received for this year, they indicate a still larger aggregate. With the re-establishment of confidence in the maintenance of good government without interference from abroad, the people of the State entered upon a new life with hopes inspired by the prospect of better times and enduring prosperity, and began vigorously to apply themselves to the pursuits in which they had so long struggled with faint hopes and scanty rewards, and to engage in other industrial and commercial enterprises; and the assessment returns show with what success. In three years, from 1879, when the bottom appears to have been reached, to 1881 inclusive, taxable values increased nearly twenty-five per centum; and there is every reason to expect that this rate of increase will continue for years to come, partly because of continually increasing market values, partly from greater willingness on the part of tax payers to return their property at something like its real worth, and partly from the greater diligence and fidelity of assessors acting under a sharpened sense of duty and stimulated by more stringent prescriptions of the law. In view of promises so fair and reasonable, I shall not venture on an estimate of the condition of the treasury at the end of the next two years, in which I should probably fall as far short as in the estimates of my last message.

THE REVENUE LAWS.

I direct your attention to the recommendations of the Auditor in reference to assessments and collections, and commend them to your respectful consideration.

Every honest man is interested in the faithful performance of the duties of assessors and collectors. If property is unequally assessed, more than his proper share of the cost of government is imposed on one and less than his proper share put on another; and negligence, looseness, or partiality in collections results in the same injustice. They are the more conscientious and scrupulous who suffer; and they have a special claim to legislative protection against their less considerate or less honest neighbors.

The assessor's duties may be more clearly and sharply prescribed; he may be held to a stricter accountability; and the obligations of the tax payer may be more strongly defined.

A very cursory examination of the tables in the Auditor's Report giving the taxable value of the several species of property in the counties shows inequalities that should be corrected in order that equal and exact justice may be done to all.

The re-enactment of Section 3060 of the Code of 1867, which was omitted from the Code of 1876, giving the right to summary judgments in the Circuit or the City Court of Montgomery county against defaulting tax collectors and probate judges, would save the State expense and be a protection to the revenues, while it would not work hardship to any faithful and honest officer. The proof of default and the bonds of the defaulter are here, and it is the duty of the Attorney General to attend to all civil suits in the courts of this county in which the State is interested. Proceedings here would, therefore, be at less cost to the State, which in such cases is the wronged party, and could be prosecuted with more certainty. During the many years this was authorized, there is no instance in which it was abused, and there is no reason to fear that it would ever be used as a means of annoyance or persecution. The State is at a great disadvantage when it must carry its witnesses and its proofs to a distant county in a suit to obtain possession of money which the tax payer has paid for its use.

It is worthy of consideration, whether it would not be expedient and proper to give to the Governor power, upon the recommendation of the Auditor, to suspend any tax assessor or tax collector from the performance of his duties for any cause that may to him appear sufficient to justify him in taking such action, as, under Section 418 of the Code, he may now, of his own motion, suspend a tax collector in certain cases. The power now possessed by the Governor under Section 418 of the Code has never been exercised; but in a number of instances a citation to show cause why it should not be exercised has had most satisfactory results. The power to suspend both assessors and collectors for any good cause would probably accomplish the desired end without once being invoked; and there is not a remote probability that it would be misused, for no Governor would be willing to dispense with the services of any honest, capable, and faithful officer, or to bring reproach upon his administration by an unnecessary and unjust proceeding so severe. The exercise of such power might be carefully guarded.

A day certain for final settlement by tax collectors should be prescribed, and forfeiture of office should be the penalty for failure. Many tax collectors cannot make settlement by the 1st of May, and should not be required to do so. Plenty of time should be given, and no grace should be allowed.

The increase reported in the allowances for "errors and insolvencies," from $31,000 in 1877 to $50,000 in 1881, is remarkable, unaccountable, and inexcusable. Errors are to be expected, and insolvencies are barely possible. It is difficult to understand how any property should not be worth six-tenths of one per centum of its low valuation for taxation, or why, unless it has been removed or destroyed, a diligent collector should be unable to collect the trifling sum charged to it. And it is not easy to see how a careful and intelligent assessor can make numerous errors. One-tenth of the whole tax levied is absorbed in mileage and commissions and lost in "errors and insolvencies."

As early as possible in the first month of each fiscal year, the State Auditor is required to draw his warrant on the tax collector of each county, in favor of the county superintendent of education, for the full amount of the school fund apportioned to the county, and the collector pays this draft out of the first money that comes into his hands from the general and license taxes. The Auditor's warrant is drawn on the tax collector, as if he were State Treasurer, and the money passes into the hands of the county superintendent of education, before it is needed or can be used for any public purpose, and is held by him as if he were State Treasurer. The money disbursed in this way, amounting to about one-fourth of the total revenues of the State, does not pass through the State treasury, and does not appear on the Treasurer's books or in his reports. These warrants are generally paid in the first quarter, or early in the second quarter, of the fiscal year; while nothing is paid to teachers until the beginning of the second quarter, and only quarterly thereafter. The county superintendent generally receives the whole amount he is to pay out during the year before there is demand upon him for any portion of it, and thereafter disburses it as claims upon it mature, retaining for future use the remainder at the end of the scholastic year. There is thus always a large sum in the aggregate in the hands of county superintendents, which should be in the safe-keeping of the treasury. These county superintendents are under bond for the faithful disbursement of the funds in their possession; but in case of default—and county superintendents have defaulted—they can be reached through legal proceedings with far more difficulty than the State Treasurer, who is at the capitol, and on whose bondsmen process can easily be served. This feature of our revenue system was adopted when the condition of the treasury was such that some such plan appeared necessary to secure to the schools the appropriations made for their support. There is no such reason for continuing it. The money for the schools should be paid from the treasury to county superintendents quarterly, as it is needed, and not otherwise.

There are no tax collectors in Chambers, Lee, and Pickens counties, and in their unhappy condition no one in either of them can qualify and act in that office. The loss to the revenues of the State from this cause was about thirty thousand dollars last year, and unless some plan of relief can be devised it will be greater the present year. The same causes that have deprived these counties of tax collectors are in operation in Tallapoosa and Randolph, which, in like manner, may at any time, through no fault of theirs, become delinquent in their contributions to the State treasury. These counties are hopelessly involved in local indebtedness, into which they were seduced by plausible misrepresentations or skillful false pretenses, or which was put upon them by frauds and force, and their creditors are relentlessly pursuing them in the federal courts for the collection in full of claims bought on speculation at a few cents on the dollar. They cannot collect state and county taxes without collecting taxes for the satisfaction of judgments against them on their so-called debts, which their people are neither willing nor able to pay. The duty of the State to itself and to its oppressed and distressed municipalities suggests the necessity for prompt and effective action in these premises.

THE RATE OF TAXATION.

I recommend a further reduction of the tax rate. In two years the balance in the treasury has been more than doubled, and is now entirely too large. Taxes should be collected only as they are needed, and to the extent they are needed, for the proper purposes of economical administration. Half the money now in the treasury should be in the pockets of the tax-payers, from which it has been taken in advance of the public wants; but two years ago, I concurred in the expediency of fixing the tax-rate at six-tenths of one per centum, below which it was by many not thought safe to go. If, however, it had been fixed at five-tenths of one per centum, the available treasury balance would have been at the close of the last fiscal year nearly $400,000. Any change now made will not affect the collections for this fiscal year, which will be made under the present rate. The Auditor estimates a surplus of $28,000 this year, which will leave in the treasury on the 30th of September next full a half million dollars in current money. If the rate be now made five-tenths of one per centum, and there be no increase in taxable values, and no increase in revenues from other sources, the deficit next year cannot be more than $90,000, which would leave a treasury balance of more than four hundred thousand dollars. I am confident, however, that the increase in taxable values of the last three years will continue, and that at a five-tenths rate the sum in the treasury will not be reduced at all, as it ought to be. There should never be more than $250,000 in the treasury at the close of any year—just enough to safely and surely carry the government over the January interest payments, after which collections always begin to come in large sums. I believe the condition of the country and of the treasury would justify a lower rate, but confidently recommend a reduction to five mills on the dollar.

THE DUTY OF ECONOMY.

The practice of the most rigid economy in all the departments of the administration, hitherto a necessity that enforced itself, is none the less a duty now. Five hundred thousand dollars in the treasury is a great temptation to larger expenditures than have heretofore been found necessary, and in this is the danger most to be feared. With so large a surplus to draw against, the most conservative may be persuaded to greater liberality in appropriations; and when a movement in this direction is started, it will be found difficult to restrain it. It should be remembered that the money in the treasury is the sum of eight years' close savings, during all of which time the people have been taxed to the maximum of their ability to pay; and they are the more entitled to relief because of this surplus of their contributions to the support and maintenance of the government, "the sole object and only legitimate end" of which "is to protect them in the enjoyment of life, liberty, and property." Every dollar in the treasury came directly from the people, from whose scanty earnings it was subtracted, and should be sacredly devoted to the uses for which it was collected, which do not include schemes for the development of the resources of the State, or measures for fostering and encouraging special industries, or anything for display, or for grandeur, or for dignity, or for pretension, or for extravagance in official salaries and emoluments. The people expect a continuance of the plain, simple, cheap, and efficient administration which they were promised in 1874 as an inducement to a political uprising for the expulsion of profligates from power, and which they have since had, and it would not be wise or safe to disappoint them. It is safe to adhere to the economical methods through which the State threw off the reproach of bankruptcy and has taken its place in the proud sisterhood of States of untarnished honor. I entreat you to closely adhere to the course of retrenchment and economy so happily inaugurated eight years ago and so successfully and satisfactorily adhered to since.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

The scholastic year ends September 30th, but the reports of the Superintendent of Education are often delayed for reports from county superintendents. The report for 1880-81 was not made until the middle of February, 1882, and the report for 1881-82 has not yet been received. The total revenue of the school department for 1880-81 was $397,479.04, derived from the following sources: Interest on sixteenth section fund, $105,424.49; interest on valueless sixteenth section fund, $5,825.47; interest on United States surplus revenue fund, $26,763.57; escheats to the State, $160.83; annual appropriation, $130,000; unapportioned balance from 1880, $1,092.45; and poll tax collected and retained in the counties, $128,212.33. This was apportioned as follows: to counties and cities, including the poll tax, $382,552.52; to the normal schools, $13,500; educational contingent fund, $1,000; unapportioned $426.52. The expenditures of the fund were as follows: Paid to teachers of white schools, $225,867.77; to teachers of colored schools, $158,901.85; salaries of county and city superintendents, $11,883.80; normal schools, $13,500; and contingent expenses, $535.65. The total number of children within the school ages enumerated was 388,003, of which 217,590 were whites, and 170,413 were colored. The total number of children enrolled was 176,289, of which 107,338 were whites, and 68,951 were colored. The daily average attendance in the white schools was 66,840 and in the colored schools 48,476. There were 4572 schools taught during the year, of which 2981 were white schools and 1591 were colored schools. The total number of teachers was 4698, of whom 3053 were in the white schools and 1645 were in the colored schools. The average length of time taught in the white schools was 84 days and in the colored schools 76 days. The average monthly pay of teachers in the white schools was $22.98 and in the colored schools was $23.15. I am advised, that there will be no very large variations from these statistics in the report for 1881-2.

DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND ASYLUM.

The reports of the Board of Commissioners and of the officers of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind Asylum, at Talladega, for the two years ending September 30, 1882, will be laid before you. Hon. M. H. Cruikshank, President of the Board of Commissioners, died on the 10th of October, 1881, and was succeeded as President by Dr. Wm. Taylor. J. Pinckney Wood was appointed to the vacancy in the Board occasioned by Mr. Cruikshank's death. Since October, 1880, there had been seventy-five pupils in the Asylum, of which fourteen had been discharged, leaving therein on the 30th of September last, sixty-one pupils, of whom forty were mutes and twenty-one were blind. The health of the household, always good, is reported to have been unusually so during the period covered by these reports. The property of the Asylum consists of seventeen acres of land, lying in the eastern part of the town of Talladega, upon which stand nine buildings, five of which are brick. During the past two years, a first-class steam laundry has been constructed, furnished, and put in operation. It will be remembered that during the two years ending September 30th, 1880, a new chapel and school room, of brick, 76 feet 2 inches by 42 feet 8 inches, was erected, at a cost of $9,750. These buildings have been put up and equipped, and the necessary repairs on all the buildings of the institution have been made, out of the savings from the support fund. No appropriations for repairs have been required since 1871. The school has capacity for one hundred pupils, and there are many in the State entitled to its benefits; but unusual efforts to secure a larger attendance have been only partially successful, owing in part, no doubt, to the ignorance of parents of the opportunities it presents for the education, care, and treatment of their unfortunate children. The Principal and the Board of Commissioners recommend that provision be made for the deaf and dumb and the blind of the colored race.

HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.

On the 30th of September, 1880, there were 402 patients in the Hospital for the Insane, of whom 213 were men, and 189 were women. During the two years ending September 30th, 1882, 188 patients were discharged, 57 died, and 260 were admitted, leaving under treatment 417 patients, of whom 209 were men and 208 were women. Of these, 345 were white and 72 were colored. The causes of death were as follows: Apoplexy 2; Bright's disease 2; cerebral softening 1; cerebral congestion 2; diarrhœa 1; epilepsy 3; fracture of skull 1; heart disease 2; maniacal exhaustion 9; marasmus 11; paresis 6; pericarditis 1; peritonitis; 1 phthisis 11; pneumonia 3; and syphilis 1. Of the discharges, 126 had recovered; 49 were improved; and 13 were unchanged. In the two years, 155 applications for admission were refused for want of room. From the opening of the Hospital in July, 1861, to the date of the last report, 1835 patients had been admitted into it, of whom 671 had been discharged recovered, 211 discharged improved, 84 discharged unchanged, and 452 had died. The cost of maintaining the Hospital for the two years was $140,003.50, of which $13,729.41 was for improvements and repairs. Under the act of February 26th, 1881, the Superintendent and the three resident members of the Board of Trustees, constituting the building commission, at once entered upon the work of preparing additional accommodation for the insane. It was determined to extend the present Hospital building by the erection at each end of an additional three-story section, sufficient to provide for between 300 and 400 patients. This work has been pushed as rapidly as the funds at the disposal of the commission would admit. The brick work of the western section is done, and the section will be completed and finished in a few months. The foundation walls of the eastern section have been laid. Fifty thousand of the $100,000 appropriated by the act of February 20th, 1881, has been drawn and expended. If that act be amended to authorize the remaining $50,000 to be drawn and used as needed, the additional accommodations contemplated by it will be provided during the coming year. The condition of the treasury will warrant this change, and it is strongly solicited by the demand for room in the Hospital, which at the earliest period possible should be made large enough to receive all who need its care and treatment. This noble institution, an honor to the State, in everything but in extent and cost of construction, will compare favorably with anything of the kind in the United States, and nowhere else are the insane so well provided for at so small a per capita expense.

THE PENITENTIARY.

The Penitentiary will doubtless demand a share of your attention, and as soon as possible after the receipt of the Report of the Warden and Inspectors, which has been delayed, I shall communicate to you the fullest information in my power concerning it, with such recommendations as may seem expedient or necessary.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Section 109 of the Code makes it the duty of the Attorney General "annually, in the month of November, to make "to the Governor a report, consolidated from the reports "made to him by the Solicitors of the different judicial "circuits, stating the number of persons prosecuted under "indictments during the past year in each county, the character of the alleged offences, the results of the trials, and "the punishments imposed;" but solicitors are not required to make reports to him, and in fact do not make them, and he cannot, therefore, report to the Governor. Such reports would give much information in reference to the enforcement of the criminal laws of the State, and put on record many interesting and valuable statistics. There is no good reason why the solicitors should not be required to make the reports contemplated by the section of the Code above quoted.

THE MILITIA.

The effective militia of Alabama consists of two regiments and a few unattached companies, uniformed at their own expense, and armed and equipped by the State. These organizations are numerically weak, numbering in all less than one thousand men, and they are not all as well drilled and disciplined as they should be. The act of the last General Assembly has promoted their efficiency; but something more is needed. These volunteer forces cost the State last year about $3,000, the benefits of which inured to the companies of the First Regiment and two or three companies of the Second. The discipline and wants of other companies, and especially of the unattached companies, have been greatly neglected. Neither the Adjutant General, the Inspector General, nor the Quartermaster General has any pay or allowance, and any one competent to discharge the duties of these offices will undertake them only with the understanding that merely routine work is to be done. But one report (in 1879-80) from the Adjutant General has been made to this office, so far as I can learn, in eight years; and since October 1st last, the office has been vacant. The State has distributed nearly one hundred thousand dollars worth of arms and equipments, received from the Federal Government since the war, and of many of these all trace is lost. When companies disband, it is the exception that their arms are returned, and in many cases no bonds for their preservation and care appear on file here. This property should be recovered; but its recovery can hardly be undertaken by officers working without compensation and at their own expense. The Adjutant General should have an office in the capitol, and be paid a salary sufficient to warrant a requirement that he perform all the duties imposed on him by law or by lawful direction of the Governor. The volunteer forces of the State are at all times subject to the order of the Governor, and should be supported and maintained; but any company below a reasonable standard of efficiency should be disbanded by the Governor upon a report of its delinquency by the Inspector General, who should have at least travelling expenses while in the discharge of his duties.

DEPARTMENT AND OTHER REPORTS.

I have had no reports for 1881-2 from the Superintendent of Education, the Attorney General (for reasons elsewhere stated), the Adjutant General, the Railroad Commission, the Warden and Inspectors of the Penitentiary, the Board of Trustees of the University, or the Board of Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, and have seen the reports of the Auditor and the Treasurer only in manuscript.

I am informed that some of these reports are in the hands of the Public Printer, who has as yet been unable to get them through the press. As they are received they will be laid before you, with such suggestions as shall be proper.

HARD LABOR FOR THE COUNTY.

Hard labor for the county as an alternative for imprisonment in the penitentiary, is peculiar to Alabama. It is unknown in other States. It compounds misdemeanors and felonies. It unequally punishes offenders. The felon in the penitentiary escapes the severer punishment of hard labor for the county, which must be inflicted upon the misdemeanant. The convict to the penitentiary has the benefit of State inspection, which gives him some protection while serving out his sentence, and secures his discharge at its expiration. The convict to hard labor for the county is generally hired to work outside of the county, is subjected to penitentiary discipline, is beyond the care of those who should see that he is humanely treated, and has no assurance of discharge at the expiration of his sentence.

The greater punishment is upon the lesser offender. A felony is an offense which may be punished by death or by confinement in the penitentiary. This is the definition of the Code. It was not intended that felons should be punished otherwise. Punishment for felonies by hard labor for the county grew out of a disposition to secure their fees to the officers of the county, convicts to hard labor for the counties for misdemeanors having been compelled to work out the costs of prosecution if not presently paid. As these punishments are now inflicted, it would be an approach to justice to sentence all convicted misdemeanants to the penitentiary and all convicted felons to hard labor for the county. The same punishment should not be prescribed for the two classes of crime. But punishment by hard labor should be modified and adapted in its severity to the minor offenses for which it was designed. Felonies should be punished by confinement in the penitentiary, as in all other States. The penitentiary was established by the State, and supported for many years at heavy cost, for the confinement and punishment of felons; and unless, now that it has become a source of revenue, it is to be abolished, directly or indirectly, all persons convicted of felonies other than capital, should be sent to it. These views were strongly urged upon the General Assembly in two of the annual messages of my immediate predecessor. "The State pays," said he, "for feeding prisoners while imprisoned in the counties; pays fees to sheriffs in cases of insolvent convicts; and pays for arrests of absconding felons," "and it seems but fair," he continued, "under this state of facts, that convicts [for felonies] should be sent to the penitentiary, that the State may have the benefit of their labor," which should go to all the people of the State and not to those of the counties, to some of which it now yields a large revenue. Under the advice of Governor Houston, it was enacted that in all cases in which the period of imprisonment or hard labor for the county is more than two years, the sentence must be to imprisonment in the penitentiary. Previously, the sentence to hard labor for the county might be for life or any shorter term. I earnestly recommend, that hard labor for the counties be retained as a punishment in cases of misdemeanors only, that the hiring of county convicts to work outside the county be prohibited, and that the sheriff, or some other officer, be specially charged with the inspection and supervision of county convicts and their treatment while they are serving out their terms and with the duty of seeing that they are discharged at the expiration of their sentence.

Where offenders are sentenced to hard labor for the county and the costs of prosecution are not presently paid, the court may impose additional hard labor for the county for a term sufficient to cover all costs and officers' fees at not less than thirty cents a day for the additional hard labor imposed. If the cost of prosecution is not a debt within the meaning of the constitution, but is a penalty in the nature of a debt for which hard labor may be imposed, the statute in effect makes poverty a crime and the commission of a misdemeanor the subject of greater punishment than that of a felony. If the non-payment of costs is a crime, the right of trial by jury is secured to the offender by the constitution. Under our practice, a person accused of carrying concealed a weapon, or of gaming, or of selling unwholesome bread, or other offense, may be arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced to hard labor for the county for the longest period allowed by law, and then, forthwith, without accusation, or arrest on warrant, or trial by jury, sentenced to another term at hard labor for non-payment of certain fees and costs. Whether a convict failing to pay costs is guilty of a crime for which the law prescribes punishment, or is simply an insolvent debtor, it seems to me, with all deference to the courts which have held otherwise, that a sentence in the usual way, to hard labor therefor, is in violation, certainly of the spirit, if not the letter, of the fundamental law of the State, and in many instances its imposition is a reproach to our administration of justice. But poverty is not a crime. Law cannot make it such. As no one able to pay costs would refuse or fail to do so when the alternative is labor in the chain gang and all that implies, it must be that in fact almost every sentence to hard labor for the county for non-payment of costs is a punishment for poverty, which might be avoided by the possession of a few dollars or the means of possessing them. Reasonable fees and costs should be paid by the county which has the service of convicts at hard labor for the county for misdemeanors, and the State should pay such costs when the sentence is to the penitentiary for felonies. Adequate punishment should be inflicted for every offense against the laws; but no punishment should ever be permitted for mere inability to pay what is in effect and fact, whatever it may be in law, a debt to the State or its officers, and what no law can make a crime.

THE PARDONING POWER.

Two years ago, the propriety of creating a board of pardons was pressed upon your consideration. The pardoning power is by the constitution vested in the Governor, to be exercised, however, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by law. A board of pardons may be established, and its recommendations, with the reasons therefor, in writing, may be made a prerequisite to executive action. A board to consist of the Attorney-General, President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House, or of three or more other persons to be appointed by the Governor or otherwise selected, could in one day, or at most two days, in each month dispose of the business to be submitted to it, and the cost would be too inconsiderable to be taken into consideration. No one, perhaps, has ever retired from the office of Governor without a conviction that he has granted pardons that ought to have been refused, and a fear that he has refused pardons that ought to have been granted. The act of rejecting a final appeal in a case involving life, liberty, or property on the one hand, or on the other hand of releasing from a proper sentence a convicted offender against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth, is too grave a duty to be imposed on any one person without official and responsible advice.

CONCLUSION.

In climate, in agricultural resources, in mineral wealth, in all natural opportunities, Alabama is unsurpassed on the continent. Navigable rivers sweep across its territory from east to west and from north to south. Vast forests of the most valuable woods have scarcely known the axman's touch. Rich valleys and broad prairies yield some fifty and some an hundred fold to indifferent culture. Mountains of solid iron ore, exhaustless quarries of limestone, and great fields of coal, are massed together over an area of thousands of square miles. Lofty mountains lift their heads into an atmosphere pure, invigorating, and health-giving. The summer's heat is tempered by cooling winds from the far-off western plains and the winter's cold by spice-laden breezes from the Gulf. Nature has lavished here with unstinted hand her choicest blessings. It only remains for those to whom this splendid possession has come to be faithful to the trust they have received. It is our fault only that Alabama is not now close up to Pennsylvania in iron and coal industries, to Massachusetts in manufacturing enterprise, to Kentucky in stock raising, and to Illinois in cereal production. We have lived almost without effort and prospered almost without labor, and have been content. A new spirit is upon us. New desires fill our hearts. New aspirations impel us forward. The God-given wealth over us, around us, under our feet, is to be developed by the genius of the mechanic, the intelligence of the agriculturist, and the skill of the miner, and all natural forces are to be trained to our uses. Our children will have the strength of giants in the land and the power of princes among men. Good laws, the impartial execution of justice, protection to person and property, and a faithful administration of public affairs, giving confidence to capital and encouragement to labor, will hasten the glories of the new era; and these are the duties to-day imposed upon us and to-morrow to be imposed upon our successors.

Mr. Speaker:

The joint committee of the two houses of the General Assembly, to which was referred a joint resolution to ascertain and report what bills are local and special that will require notice as required by the Constitution, beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration. They find the subject was considered and reported upon by a joint committee of the two houses at the session of 1878-9, and their report was adopted. It will be found on page 100 of the House journal of that session.

The report of that committee was approved by a special committee, at the session of 1880-1, and their report adopted by the General Assembly, as appears by the journal of that session, page 80.

Your committee respectfully recommend that the present General Assembly adopt for its guide on this subject, the rule heretofore thus adopted and acted upon, viz: that to make a statute a public law of general obligation, it is not necessary that it should be equally applicable to all parts of the State. All that is required is, that it shall apply to all persons within the territorial limits to be affected thereby, and general in its application to the class or locality, and that bills affecting individuals and private corporations be considered as local or special bills, and require notice as provided for in the Constitution of the State of Alabama, Article IV, section 24.

But this rule as to notice shall not apply to bills relating to public or educational institutions, nor to industrial, mining, immigration or manufacturing corporations or interests, or corporations for constructing canals, or improving navigable rivers and harbors of this State.

All of which is respectfully submitted, and your committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the matter.

P. HAMILTON,

To the Honorable House of Representatives :

The undersigned members of the committee, to whom was referred House Bill No. 1, entitled an act to prevent the sale or exchange of cotton in the seed in Barbour county, in this State, and sale or exchange of said cotton produced in said county, respectfully submit the following minority report:

Said bill should not become a law. It deprives citizens of valuable rights. It is not a necessary police regulation, and yet it limits the right of citizens to sell the proceeds of their own labor.

The bill is wrong in theory and in practice. If the application of the principle were extended would ruin the State. It is oppressive to the laborer; and more so to the farmer, who owns cotton only in small quantities.

Respectfully submitted,

J. M. CLARK,

J. S. JONES.

When, on motion of Mr. Lang, the further consideration of the bill was postponed and made the special order for Tuesday next at 12 M.

On motion of Mr. Russell, the House adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,

Montgomery, Alabama, November 27, 1882.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Almost from the first day of its organization, the penitentiary has been a source of trouble and solicitude to the State, and until very recently its operation has been unprofitable in every sense. It has pressed itself upon my consideration, as it had pressed itself upon the attention of my predecessors, by its importance as a penal and reformatory institution and by the extent and character of its relations with the State treasury. I have been solicitous to make it more profitable to the State, and at the same time to mitigate the severity of its discipline and punishment. I have looked diligently into its history with a sincere purpose to profit by the errors of its past management, and to correct evils that have crept into its administration. Unfortunately, our records are so imperfect that information much needed cannot be had. There can be found no report of warden or inspectors of an earlier date than 1866. It is only of late years that the messages of the Governors have any statistics relating to it; and there is here no message between that of Governor Fitzpatrick dated December 2, 1845, and that of Governor Collier, dated November 13th, 1853, the journals of the two houses, both printed and in manuscript for the intervening years being lost, or destroyed, or out of print. The message of 1859-60 is the first in which the number of convicts (216) is stated. From the scanty information I have obtained I can only very unsatisfactorily review the course of the prison.

OLD TIME PENALTIES.

Previous to 1836, the punishment in Alabama for most of the graver felonies was death. This was the penalty for treason, petit treason, murder, rape, stealing or selling any free person as a slave, arson, robbery, burglary, the stealing of a slave, counterfeiting, and some other offenses. Other punishments for crimes of lower grade were fines, imprisonment, the pillory, the lash, and branding. In 1836 an act to mitigate the severity of the penal laws of the State, reduced the punishment, in cases of white persons, for arson, robbery, burglary, forgery, and counterfeiting, to imprisonment not exceeding two years and thirty-nine lashes on the bare back. There was imprisonment for debt in those days; but no hard labor, or lashes, or pillory, or branding for debt.

THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE PENITENTIARY.

On the 29th of January, 1839, Governor Bagby approved an act "to establish a State prison and penitentiary," and appropriating thirty thousand dollars therefor. This act provided for the election by the legislature of three commissioners to superintend the construction of the necessary buildings, and of three competent persons to prepare a code of criminal laws adapted to the new system of punishment and a set of rules for the organization and government of the prison. At a night joint session of the two houses on the day the act was approved, the penitentiary was located at Wetumpka, the vote being, for Wetumpka 60, for Montevallo 25, for Tuscaloosa 17, for Centerville 4, and for Marion 4; and at the same joint session, Henry W. Collier, Henry Goldthwaite and John J. Ormond, were elected to prepare the penal code, and William Hogan, A. A. McWhorter, and ——— Smith were chosen building commissioners. The double purpose of the penitentiary was explained by the Governor to be, to satisfy the claims of offended justice by affixing a moderate, but adequate and certain, punishment to such offenses as it was adapted to, and, at the same time to alleviate, as far as human means could alleviate, consistently with the stern and inflexible rules of justice, the miserable and pitiable condition of criminal and degraded humanity.

The Governor's message dated December 2, 1839, stated that work on the prison had been retarded, but was in progress, and that the total cost would be $84,889

In communicating to the General Assembly of 1840-1 the proposed, but not yet adopted, criminal code, Governor Bagby said: "In fact, the introduction of the penitentiary system of itself affords the clearest indication that the great object of the legislature was, as it should have been, to restrain the hand of lawless violence and to relieve offenders, except of the very highest grade, from the ignominy of public corporeal punishment and to reform them if possible by excluding them from temptation and the haunts of vice by solitary confinement and employment."

The penal code was adopted January 9, 1841. The penitentiary was completed October 27, 1841. The penal code was proclaimed in full force and effect November 2, 1841. November 20, 1841, William Hogan was elected the first warden, and J. M. Armstrong, S. S. Simmons, and John Watson the first inspectors. The new system was thus put in operation; and $10,000 was appropriated for the current expenses of the first year, including the erection of some workshops and other improvements.

ITS OPERATION BY THE STATE.

In his message of December, 1842, Governor Fitzpatrick expressed great satisfaction with the operations and promises of the prison. He said the government and whole internal police were alike creditable to the State and the officers who had the management of it, and he could but regard the radical change in the punishment of crimes and offences by the system then adopted as a most salutary innovation upon our former laws. One of the inspectors was reported by name as delinquent in the discharge of his duties; and more money was wanted.

A year later, there appears to have been some dissatisfaction with the prison management. A new warden and inspectors were to be elected; and Warden Hogan had permitted convicts to write letters to members of the Legislature urging his re-election. This was made the subject of legislative enquiry, and a committee, through its chairman, Mr. Yancey, reported that such correspondence, which was proved, was palpably improper. Mr. Hogan was not re-elected. December 20th, 1843, William S. Kyle, John Watson, and L. P. Saxon were elected inspectors, and on the 3d of January, 1844, Achilles Bradley was elected warden. The warden had not only expended all the appropriations made, but had run the prison in debt; and January 5, 1844, Mr. Yancey, from the committee, reported that fact to the House, with a resolution declaring it thereafter unlawful for the warden or other officer or officers to create debts. It also appears, that the warden, unmindful of the humane purposes of the prison, had inflicted upon refractory convicts other punishment than that of solitary confinement, the only punishment authorized by the Code in such cases, and the House committee, censuring this, reported a resolution to authorize in extreme cases such severer punishment as should be deemed most advisable by the warden, physician and inspectors, or a majority of them, "provided, that in no case should whipping be allowed."

At the beginning of the session of 1844-5, the prison was becoming a matter of considerable concern. There had been a fire, by which a row of wooden workshops had been burned. Warden Hogan, before retiring, drew the $8,000 appropriated in 1843-4 for the current expenses of the year, and applied the whole of it to the payment of some of the debts of the prison. When the new warden entered upon his duties, he found himself without money, or materials, or supplies for the support of the convicts. There was no alternative, and Governor Fitzpatrick advised purchases on credit, and advanced to the warden $1,000 from the contingent fund. The message at this session gives us no other information of the financial condition of the prison; but January 29, 1845, an appropriation of $15,000 was made for it, which was subsequently found to be wholly insufficient.

When the Legislature met in December, 1845, the financial condition of the prison was pretty nearly as bad as it could be. In his message, the Governor said: "The institution, however, has for some time labored under heavy pecuniary embarrassments, which have, to a considerable extent, impeded its operations. * * * The sum of $15,000 appropriated at the last session of the General Assembly for the support of the penitentiary the coming year, it is to be regretted, was wholly insufficient to do so, and at the same time discharge the debts due by the institution at the period when the appropriation was made. A large number of the debts due last year have consequently not been paid. I am not informed of the exact amount owed by the penitentiary."

From a report made by a Senate committee December 24, 1845, it appears that to that time the State had appropriated for the support of the penitentiary $42,000, viz: in 1841-2, $10,000; 1842-3, $8,000; in 1843-4 (including $1,000 from the Governor's contingent fund) $9,000; and in 1844-5, $15,000. To this time, the sale of penitentiary fabrics had amounted to $21,565.75. At this session (1845-6)

appropriations to the amount of $11,576.44 were made to pay the debts of the penitentiary. Thomas Cargill was elected warden, and F. McLemore, W. S. Kyle, and Richard J. Harrison were elected inspectors.

THE LEASE SYSTEM.

On the 4th of February, 1846, the Governor approved an act to lease the penitentiary, including buildings, convicts, machinery, and other property, for a term of six years, provided, "that the State shall in no case pay the lessee anything in consideration of his taking charge of the penitentiary beyond the permission to take to himself the profits of the labor of the convicts." Under this act, the prison and all things thereunto pertaining appears to have been leased to J. G. Graham, who does not seem to have undertaken to pay anything for it. The lessee became warden; and all the other offices, except those of physician and inspector, were abolished.

In 1852, the penitentiary was again leased for a term of six years, and M. G. Moore and F. Jordan became lessees at an annual rental of $650, which up to September 30th, 1857, they had failed and refused to pay, as stated by the Auditor in his report of that date, and there is no evidence that it was ever paid.

In 1858, at the expiration of the lease to Moore & Jordan, Dr. Ambrose Burrows became lessee for six years at $1,550 a year. Dr. Burrows died in 1862, and the State resumed control with M. G. Moore as warden.

Little is known of the number, treatment, or health of the convicts, or of the condition of the buildings, or of the extent and character of the machinery, during the period covered by these leases, and I cannot learn the names of the inspectors, who were appointed by the Governor after 1848. In 1855, Governor Winston thought the system a bad one, adopted as a dernier resort and "an abandonment of the expectation of reformation, which," he said "was one of the chief arguments in favor of that system of punishment." "The health of the convicts for the last year," he added, "appeared to have been worse than usual." In 1857, Governor Winston still thought the system a bad one, and advocated "a return to the death penalty for the worst offences, and a different punishment for the lesser, then punished by sentence to the penitentiary," to "relieve the public from supporting the convicts in institutions of this kind." In 1859, Governor Moore said there were 216 convicts in the prison; but his message contains no other information. A report of the Senate committee on the 5th of December, 1861, said the convicts were well provided for by the lessee, and nothing more.

THE STATE AGAIN IN CHARGE.

It is learned from the message of Governor Shorter of November 9th, 1863, that for the eighteen months previous to September 30th of that year "the health of the convicts has been unusually good and the entire operation of the prison had been most successfully conducted." There were then in the prison twenty-five convicts from Mississippi. During that period, the warden had paid into the State treasury $80,000 and had in cash $23,000 more, and the "stock on hand" was valued at $44,000—all in confederate currency. The Auditor's reports show that during Warden Moore's administration, which terminated June 5, 1866, he paid to the State $80,000 in 1863, $16,331 in 1864, and nothing in 1865 or 1866, and drew out of the treasury in 1864 $40,000, in 1865 nothing, and in 1866 (lawful currency) $13,446.82.

ANOTHER LEASE.

On the 6th of June, 1866, Governor Patton, "for and in consideration of the sum of five dollars in hand paid, leased the penitentiary and all the appurtenances thereunto belonging, and all the machinery, implements, and tools of every description and kind in and about the penitentiary," to Smith & McMillan, provided the lessees might abandon the lease if the next ensuing Legislature failed or refused to authorize the employment of the convicts on railroads or in the coal fields, and loaned the lessees $15,000 for six years, the term of the lease, at six per centum per annum. December 7th, 1866, the act was approved authorizing the employment of convicts upon private or public work anywhere in the State. Smith & McMillan's bond for repayment of the loan has recently been found here, uncanceled, and there is no reason to believe the debt has been paid. A. K. Shephard and Thomas Peters are sureties on the bond for the loan.

This is the first of the penitentiary leases of whose practical working there is any information; and the fragmentary papers in this case have but recently been discovered. Smith & McMillan were the lessees known to the State; but Thomas Peters, Sam Tate and A. K. Shephard were in fact partners with them. During the term of the lease, the partnership appears to have been several times changed, McMillan parting with his interest, and other partners coming into the firm, viz: Campbell Wallace, W. B. Greenlaw, M. B. Pritchard, J. W. Sloss and M. J. Wick. Machinery, implements, tools, etc., inventoried at $19,668.27, were turned over to Smith & McMillan when they came into the lease, to be returned in kind. There is nothing said of the condition of the grounds and buildings when they took possession. It is known how they left them. On the 13th of June, 1872, I. W. Suttle, W. H. Odiome, and James Thaddeus, inspectors, officially reported the main building in very bad condition, the roofs leaking, the gutters gone, the shops and hospitals decaying, the floors rotting, the windows and doors broken, many of the window sash entirely gone, and "everything as badly torn up and scattered as it is possible to imagine." The inventory of property returned to the State amounted to $9,602.57, and that barely fit for use. They turned over about 175 convicts. This was the last lease.

THE STATE RESUMES CONTROL.

On the 6th of June, 1872, M. G. Moore was appointed warden, and on the 8th of that month he entered upon his duties as such. The Senate refused to confirm this appointment, and on the 1st of March, 1873, Larkin G. Willis, who had been appointed and confirmed, took charge of the prison. Willis died, and was followed March 1, 1875, by John G. Bass, who remained in office until he was succeeded by John H. Bankhead, on the 1st of March, 1881.

On the 22d of January, 1875, a joint legislative committee reported that they had visited the penitentiary and made such examination as was possible of the books and accounts of the warden, and found them very unsatisfactory. The expenditures during Moore's term had been $11,302.61, and they found vouchers for but $4,745.19. During the administration of Willis, the expenditures had been $30,194.52, and they found vouchers for but $7,858.47. The committee reported many specific abuses, indicating utter incompetency or gross negligence, at least.

When established, the penitentiary was equipped with such machinery, tools, implements, &c., as were necessary for the employment of the convicts within the walls, and to this equipment additions were from time to time made as needed, and, when it was operated by the State, materials were bought and manufactured, and the products were sold. At the date of Smith & McMillan's lease, these engines, tools, machinery, &c., were valued at nearly $20,000. In 1872, less than half of this was left. In March, 1881, all the personal property turned over to the present warden was appraised at about $500.

INSPECTORS' REPORTS.

The earliest inspectors' report I have seen is in manuscript, covering the period between July 1, 1866, and July 1, 1868, the first two years of Smith & McMillan's lease, and is made by Thos. Williams, J. L. Pogue, and C. M. Cabott, who declared the lease system a great success, and commended the wisdom of its adoption. During this period there were in the prison 516 convicts, of whom 18 had been discharged, 87 had been pardoned, 24 had escaped, and 93 had died. Of the 294 in prison at the date of the report, 95 were whites and 199 were colored.

The next report, dated October 1, 1870, is also in manuscript. It covers the preceding year, and was from John H. McCutchen, John Weiss, and Baker Kyle, inspectors, who said the prison in every respect was conducted by the lessees in a lawful and humane manner, and who were greatly pleased with the existing system "as conducive in every respect to contentment and reformation of convicts." Aside from the tables, their report is in five lines. It appears that on the 1st of October, 1869, there had been in the penitentiary 263 convicts, and 97 had been received during the year, of whom 77 had been discharged by expiration of term of service, pardon, and orders of the Supreme Court, 6 had escaped, and 92 had died, leaving 185 in prison. Of the deaths, 22 were from pneumonia, 13 from chronic diarrhœa, 7 from diseases of the heart, 5 from congestion of the brain, 4 from consumption, 4 from dysentery, and the others from various diseases. The number of convicts of each race is not given.

These are the only reports to be found embracing the term of Smith & McMillan's lease. They are simply a register of the convicts, with the briefest possible commendations of the beauty and beneficence of the lease system. The inspectors had no business matters to look after beyond the care and preservation of the property of the State, which, as has been seen, was as nearly destroyed between 1866 and 1872 as was possible without the assistance of fire. In 1872, the State resumed control of property and convicts. There appears to have been no report made during Warden Moore's administration, from June 6th, 1872, to March 1st, 1873. Since that date printed reports of the warden and other officers have been preserved.

The inspectors' report for 1872-3 only goes back to March 1st, 1873, when Warden Willis entered upon his duties. It is made by Sam D. Oliver and Henry C. Bryan. On the 1st of March, 1873, there were 133 convicts in the penitentiary and 86 had been received, of whom 11 had escaped, 7 had been pardoned, 9 had been discharged, and 20 had died, leaving in prison 172. It appears from the physician's report, that there had been 8 deaths in prison from October 1st, 1872, of whom "5 came from the railroad hopelessly diseased," and that there had been during the year 39 deaths among the convicts working on the road. There had been, therefore, 47 deaths in the year, 20 of which occurred after March 1st, 1873. Of the 219 convicts in the prison between March 1st and October 1st, 1873, 34 were white and 185 were colored. Warden Willis says, when he entered upon his duties "the most of the convicts were at work on the railroad under Rucker and his associates," and that he "had them all brought to the prison, owing, principally, to the fact that their condition was such that unless they were better cared for they would all soon die." At the date of this report, about 50 convicts were at the mines at Iron-ton, about 50 on the State farm, and the balance in the walls. The State farm had been bought in the early part of this year, and the warden refers to the "calamities" which had attended its cultivation.

The inspectors' report for the year ending October 1st, 1874, was made by Sam D. Oliver, G. L. Zimmerman, and Henry C. Bryan, who had "visited and inspected the convicts under contract to public and private enterprises," and were "pleased to report their condition as excellent, being well fed and clothed, and as well contented as possible."

"The present warden," they added, "does not tolerate any cruelty or abuse on the part of parties working convicts." On the 1st of October, 1873, there were in the prison 172 convicts and 147 had been received, of whom 35 had been discharged, 8 had been pardoned, 25 had escaped, and 13 had died, leaving in prison 238. Of the 238 in prison, 31 were whites and 207 colored. These were employed as follows: At New Castle coal mines 30, at the Red Mountain Iron Works 18, under contract to private individuals 62, on the State farm 69, and in prison 59. There is no reference to the prices paid for convict labor. The warden reported that he had collected during the year $9,148.93, and that there was due the penitentiary from all sources $19,628.06.

On the 30th of September, 1875, Warden Bass in his first report to the inspectors called their attention to "the dilapidation and demoralization of the institution" when he took charge of it. "The buildings or shops containing all the valuable machinery and roofing on the south wall burnt down—nothing left from it except an "unsightly pile of brick and worthless machinery; the remaining shops had but few tools and no material." He had drawn from the State treasury $2,000, and collected $1,876.35, and had disbursed $2,922.28. "All parties," said the warden, "contracting for the hire of convicts have erected good and substantial buildings for the safe keeping of the prisoners, and to all appearances comply with all the requirements of their agreements." He had visited all the prisons or places of confinement, and found the convicts "were well fed and clothed, with good sanitary regulations, and were as well satisfied as they could be under such circumstances." The inspectors made no report. On the 1st of October, 1874, there were in the prison 237 convicts, and 276 had been received during the year, of whom 63 had been discharged, 19 had been pardoned, 40 had escaped, and 23 had died, leaving in prison 368. Of the 513 convicts during the year, 74 were whites and 439 were colored.

Inspectors James M. Bradford, A. T. Goodwin, and J. H. Judkins, reported October 9th, 1876, that the convicts employed without the walls were worked by the Newcastle Coal Company at Newcastle, the Eureka Company at Helena, the Alabama Iron Company in Talladega county, Jackson, Morris & Co. in Chilton county, Monroe Parker in Coosa county, Thomas Williams in Elmore county, Storrs & Parker in Elmore county, Fariss & McCurdy in Lowndes county, Gains Whitfield in Marengo county, B. S. Smith in Tallapoosa county, and C. T. Pollard in Montgomery county. They had visited most of the camps four times during the year and were "gratified to state that their complaints and suggestions with reference to the proper management and treatment of convicts had been heeded," and the "convicts everywhere were being properly cared for and guarded." There is no summary of the convicts received, died, pardoned, or discharged, but there appears to have been 520 convicts in the prison at the close of the year.

Inspectors, Messrs. Bradford, Goodwin, and Judkins, October 24th, 1877, reported the names of those working convicts without the walls, and the number worked by each. The number thus employed was 557. They had visited all the camps quarterly, and some oftener. They had examined the convicts' food and the provisions kept for them, and had inspected their quarters, hospitals, and clothing, and privately had interrogated them closely, and confidently asserted that they were "everywhere being well cared for and humanely treated." There were 45 deaths during the year. The average number worked at the mines was 120, of whom 15 had died; of 405 on the farms and at out door work (not including those in the mines or on the railroads) 18 had died, of whom 5 from sunstroke. There were in the prison at the beginning of the year 520 convicts and 311 had been received during the year, of whom 80 had been discharged, 17 had been pardoned, 45 had died, and 34 had escaped, leaving in prison at the end of the year, 655. Of the 831 convicts during the year, 81 were whites and 750 were colored.

For 1878, Inspectors Bradford, Goodwin, and Judkins reported the buildings, lands, and stock of the prison in excellent condition, and also reported continued improvement in the care and treatment of convicts under their vigilant inspection. The only lessee of convicts in addition to those previously reported was N. J. Stallworth, of Monroe county. At the beginning of the year there were 655 convicts in the prison and 218 were received during the year, of whom 137 had been discharged 30 had been pardoned, 11 had been delivered to sheriffs, 18 had died, and 23 had escaped, leaving 654 on hand. Of the 873 in the prison during the year 102 were whites and 771 were colored.

The inspectors for the two years ending October 1, 1880, were A. G. Simpson, A. T. Goodwin, and J. H. Judkins. Their report, under the act of February 13th, 1879, gave the names of lessees and the names of the convicts hired to each. The convicts worked without the walls were hired at five dollars a month for full hands, and two and a half dollars for half hands, and nothing for dead-heads. This is the first report in which the price paid for convict labor is stated, but these had been the prices for a number of years. The inspectors said: "Contractors have been required to provide, and have provided, strong prisons for the safe keeping and comfort of convicts. These prisons have generally been neatly kept, and we have required much attention to be given to the sanitary regulations of them. * * * We have in every instance diligently enquired into the treatment of the prisoners, and we now state that during this period the convicts have generally been well clothed and fed and humanely treated, and that corporeal punishment has only been inflicted in extreme cases." This is the first instance in which reference is made to this punishment. "All the buildings and the walls of the prison have been thoroughly repaired," they said, "and with the same care now taken will not for a long time require an outlay of money for their preservation." At the beginning of the term there were in prison 654 convicts and 275 were received during the term, of whom 274 had been discharged; 29 had been pardoned, 36 had escaped, and 60 had died, leaving in prison 540. Of the deaths 32 were at the coal mines and the Alabama Furnace, or had been returned sick from one of these places, 19 were on plantations, 4 were in the penitentiary, and 4 not stated.

THE REPORTS FOR 1880-2.

The reports of the warden and inspectors for 1880-2 are herewith laid before you. At the beginning of this term there were in the penitentiary 540 convicts and 325 were received during the term, of which 240 were discharged, 26 escaped, 16 were pardoned, and 61 died, leaving 522 in prison October 1, 1882. There is not only a falling off in the number of convicts, but there is a remarkable deterioration in their labor capacity. On the 30th of September, 1880, of 540 convicts, 410 were rated as first-class hands. On the 30th of September, 1882, of 522 convicts, only 112 were thus rated. The warden attributes this to three humane purposes of the prison, had inflicted upon refractory convicts other punishment than that of solitary confinement, the only punishment authorized by the Code in such cases, and the House committee, censuring this, reported a resolution to authorize in extreme cases such severer punishment as should be deemed most advisable by the warden, physician and inspectors, or a majority of them, "provided, that in no case should whipping be allowed."

At the beginning of the session of 1844-5, the prison was becoming a matter of considerable concern. There had been a fire, by which a row of wooden workshops had been burned. Warden Hogan, before retiring, drew the $8,000 appropriated in 1843-4 for the current expenses of the year, and applied the whole of it to the payment of some of the debts of the prison. When the new warden entered upon his duties, he found himself without money, or materials, or supplies for the support of the convicts. There was no alternative, and Governor Fitzpatrick advised purchases on credit, and advanced to the warden $1,000 from the contingent fund. The message at this session gives us no other information of the financial condition of the prison; but January 29, 1845, an appropriation of $15,000 was made for it, which was subsequently found to be wholly insufficient.

When the Legislature met in December, 1845, the financial condition of the prison was pretty nearly as bad as it could be. In his message, the Governor said: "The institution, however, has for some time labored under heavy pecuniary embarrassments, which have, to a considerable extent, impeded its operations. * * * The sum of $15,000 appropriated at the last session of the General Assembly for the support of the penitentiary the coming year, it is to be regretted, was wholly insufficient to do so, and at the same time discharge the debts due by the institution at the period when the appropriation was made. A large number of the debts due last year have consequently not been paid. I am not informed of the exact amount owed by the penitentiary."

From a report made by a Senate committee December 24, 1845, it appears that to that time the State had appropriated for the support of the penitentiary $42,000, viz: in 1841-2, $10,000; 1842-3, $8,000; in 1843-4 (including $1,000 from the Governor's contingent fund) $9,000; and in 1844-5, $15,000. To this time, the sale of penitentiary fabrics had amounted to $21,565.75. At this session (1845-6)

appropriations to the amount of $11,576.44 were made to pay the debts of the penitentiary. Thomas Cargill was elected warden, and F. McLemore, W. S. Kyle, and Richard J. Harrison were elected inspectors.

THE LEASE SYSTEM.

On the 4th of February, 1846, the Governor approved an act to lease the penitentiary, including buildings, convicts, machinery, and other property, for a term of six years, provided, "that the State shall in no case pay the lessee anything in consideration of his taking charge of the penitentiary beyond the permission to take to himself the profits of the labor of the convicts." Under this act, the prison and all things thereunto pertaining appears to have been leased to J. G. Graham, who does not seem to have undertaken to pay anything for it. The lessee became warden; and all the other offices, except those of physician and inspector, were abolished.

In 1852, the penitentiary was again leased for a term of six years, and M. G. Moore and F. Jordan became lessees at an annual rental of $650, which up to September 30th, 1857, they had failed and refused to pay, as stated by the Auditor in his report of that date, and there is no evidence that it was ever paid.

In 1858, at the expiration of the lease to Moore & Jordan, Dr. Ambrose Burrows became lessee for six years at $1,550 a year. Dr. Burrows died in 1862, and the State resumed control with M. G. Moore as warden.

Little is known of the number, treatment, or health of the convicts, or of the condition of the buildings, or of the extent and character of the machinery, during the period covered by these leases, and I cannot learn the names of the inspectors, who were appointed by the Governor after 1848. In 1855, Governor Winston thought the system a bad one, adopted as a dernier resort and "an abandonment of the expectation of reformation, which," he said "was one of the chief arguments in favor of that system of punishment." "The health of the convicts for the last year," he added, "appeared to have been worse than usual." In 1857, Governor Winston still thought the system a bad one, and advocated "a return to the death penalty for the worst offences, and a different punishment for the lesser, then punished by sentence to the penitentiary," to "relieve the seems some doubt, they were not enough to keep the property in even tolerable repair, and there was the loss of interest on the investment in grounds, buildings, and machinery. In 1863, there was a payment of $80 000 into the treasury, in Confederate money; but during the remainder of the administration of the warden who made this payment, no other considerable payment was made, and large drafts upon the treasury in his behalf dispelled the hopes inspired by his promising beginning. Then followed a six years' lease, for which the State appears to have paid $15,000, and during which the property was reduced to a wreck. Since the expiration of this lease, now ten years, it has been in the hands of wardens, from whom, from time to time, much has been expected, and who, from time to time, have promised much. The figures hereafter given, the debits being the amounts paid by the State on account of the penitentiary, and the credits the amounts paid by it to the State, tell the story of its relations to the treasury during this period:

I have always considered the cost of conveying convicts to the penitentiary a proper charge upon it, as it is incurred through and on account of it; and where such cost now ac-crues it is paid by the penitentiary. To the above balance against the penitentiary for six years I would add, therefore, the amounts paid at the State Treasury for this service during this period, which aggregate $75,122.24; and it is entitled to credit for $6,000 a year for four years for the labor of one hundred hands under contract for the State farm. The total balance against the penitentiary for these eight years is $76,515.70, as follows:

In this time, however, in 1877 and 1878, work estimated at over $12,000 was done under contract on the Wetumpka Branch of the South & North Railroad, in consideration of which the officers of the penitentiary, State officers on official business connected with the penitentiary, sheriffs and guards en route to the penitentiary with convicts, and materials for supplies to it, are to be free of freight or passenger charges over the Branch Road (between six and seven miles long) for twenty years—now worth perhaps $50 a year.

When I entered upon my duties here, there were 654 convicts in the penitentiary, the greater number of them able-bodied hands. I thought then, as I think now, that if the hard labor system is to be continued, the labor of the convicts ought to bring an amount sufficient to cover the current expenses of the prison and cost incident thereto. I submitted this view to one of the inspectors, and requested him to bring it to the attention of the other inspectors and the warden, with the request that they take it into consideration and make such suggestions as to them might appear best and most practicable. At that time there were no convicts in the penitentiary not under contracts having from eighteen months to four years to run, at five dollars a month for full hands; and these contracts could only be determined by the consent of the contractors and the warden. The old, and sick, and infirm, and crippled, unable to make half hands at half price, were supported in the penitentiary; and the State was paying from $10,000 to $16,000 a year for carrying convicts from the jails to the penitentiary. I had frequent conferences with Mr. Judkins, an inspector appointed by my predecessor, from the fall of 1878 to the spring of 1879, with the hope of securing the advice of the inspectors as a board as well as that of the warden, in the premises. In February or March, it was suggested by him that no harm could come to the State from an advertisement for the lease of the penitentiary for six years, as the right to reject all bids could be reserved. Such an advertisement was published, the lessee, in the event of a lease, to take subject to all contracts, which were to be carried out according to their terms; and bids, under the advertisement, were received. About the time the bids were opened, the warden informed me of a proposition from a portion of the then contractors to cancel existing contracts and make new ones, increasing the price from $5 a month to $6 a month. I told him, if the contractors would also agree to take all the convicts and agree to receive them at the jails where they were confined, so as to free the State from the support of what are known as deadheads as well as of all expense after conviction, that I would reject all bids for the lease and would approve contracts in accordance with such agreement. This was agreed to; and an agreement in writing to this effect, signed by the warden and a number of old contractors, was presented to me, upon which I endorsed, in substance, that I would approve contracts in accordance with the terms of such agreement, and rejected the bids for the lease, as the State would realize more from the proposed new contracts than from the highest bid for the lease, which was made by Messrs. DeBardeleben and Jackson in the name of George Morris. No contracts were ever made by the warden under this agreement; but the able-bodied convicts were hired out and the deadheads retained by the warden and supported by the State, as is the practice of the present warden.

The proposition to lease the penitentiary attracted attention and provoked discussion which developed the value of convict labor and led to a competitive demand which has resulted in new contracts as the old contracts expired at more than double the price previously paid, in addition to which contractors now take the convicts at the jails, and the State is relieved of the cost of transporting them to the prison. Under these better contracts, notwithstanding a decrease of more than one-third in the number of convicts and even a greater decrease in their working capacity, the penitentiary has for the first time in its history become profitable to the State, as the following figures show. The debits include the pay of officers, the cost of transporting convicts to the penitentiary when such is incurred, and all other expenses on account of the penitentiary embraced in the last foregoing table:

SUGGESTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

I have as briefly as possible reviewed the history of the penitentiary in its relations to the special purposes for which it was established and to the treasury, and I regret that I cannot aid your deliberations by fuller information, which, perhaps more fortunate in your researches than I have been in mine, you may obtain from sources to which I had not access. The prison has been operated by the State under wardens of its own selection, until recently at heavy cost. Its management has again and again been transferred to lessee, with some mitigation of the drain on the treasury, at the expense of a valuable property which at the termination of the last lease, was a wreck and ruin. The convicts have been worked within the walls and supported at the public expense; and they have been worked without the walls at a loss. Through all the changes, the convicts appear generally to have been treated with inhumanity. From the beginning it has been an utter failure as a reformatory institution; and contrary to the intention of its founders, it has been made a means of punishment more terrible than that it was intended to modify. The experience of the past four years proves that it can be sustained on a pecuniarily profitable basis. The experience of the past two years shows that the cruelties and abuses which have made the condition of the convict intolerable are as unnecessary as they have been shameful and brutal. A determined effort on the part of the inspectors and the warden has cleansed the prisons, supplied them with water, provided hospitals, bettered the clothing, secured medical attention to the sick, and improved the quality and increased the quantity of food. A more determined effort will in all these respects bring the standard up to that prescribed by the laws, which each officer of the penitentiary swears to enforce and execute. The statutes particularly prescribe the sanitary regulations of prisons, the clothing, diet, meals and medical attention of convicts, the punishments to which they may be subjected, and the privileges to which they are entitled. These prescriptions are embodied in the agreements of contractors for convict labor, and may be enforced in the courts. There can be few abuses if the officers of the State do their whole duty fearlessly and faithfully. If contractors are deaf to the pleadings of humanity, and blind enough to their own interests to expect full work from half-naked and half-starved men, they should be compelled to obey the law. Through many years, in which, as has been seen, the care and treatment of convicts was uniformly officially reported as all that could be desired or required, grew into full stature the abuses now described by the warden and inspectors as existing two years ago, and which have been but partially corrected yet. It is not the work of a day, or of a year, to accomplish complete reform under such conditions; but what has lately been done shows what may be done. The business management of the penitentiary can hardly be considered otherwise than satisfactory now; but stringent measures should compel speedy and sweeping changes in the treatment of convicts, and hold to a strict and stern responsibility those through whose act or negligence such wrongs occur as those now brought to our attention.

If, however, the penitentiary system is not to be abandoned, there must be material changes in our criminal legislation. The penitentiary is fast becoming a hospital, and not a prison. It is filling up with the old and the sick and the maimed and the blind, who cannot be made self-supporting; and the administration of justice through which this is being done, is not in the interest of humanity. The punishment substituted for the penitentiary is attended with all the aggravations which have aroused a feeling of resentment towards our penitentiary system, and with almost none of its mitigations under inspections and supervision.

The two houses will determine what shall be done with the penitentiary, what shall be its management, under what system it shall be administered, and what changes shall be made in the laws affecting it incidentally. If the present system is to be maintained, many sections of the Code relating to its organization and discipline should be re-written, for they are based upon the assumption that the convicts are within the walls. If the convicts are to be hired without the walls, as they now are, the Legislature may well declare how they are to be hired and in what employments they shall be used, and ought to provide a summary method of determining contracts for violation by the contractors of their undertakings in the treatment of convicts. The Governor, held to a large accountability for errors or evils of penitentiary administration, but now with little power but to approve or reject contracts, ought to be authorized for good and sufficient cause to suspend the warden from the discharge of his duties until the next ensuing session of the Legislature, and to remove for cause the inspectors, under a requirement to report his reason therefor in writing to the General Assembly. A more efficient system of inspection is indispensable; and if the county hard labor system is to be continued, the duties of the State prison inspectors should be extended to embrace county convicts.

With such modifications as are entirely practicable, I think under the present system of management and administration the penitentiary may yet be made to accomplish even more than the ends contemplated by its founders.

THE WARDEN'S PLAN.

The warden proposes to abandon the property at Wetsumpka, to mass all the convicts at a single place and provide new accommodations there for them, and to so hire them out that they will all be worked under his immediate supervision. To this modification of the present system there are serious objections. It contemplates the abandonment of a valuable property, which is not adapted to any other public use, and which could not be sold at a price to make its sale a matter of consideration. It contemplates the erection of new and costly buildings elsewhere. It practically provides for the exclusion of all competition for the hire of convict labor under conditions which render it improbable that anything like a fair value of the labor would be offered for it; for it is not to be expected that any one would pay the full value of labor where the laborer is under the immediate supervision of a presumably hostile interest. A single interest could use the labor, and, the plan once adopted, it could dictate the terms of hire. The suggestion that, under this plan, convicts, working under the eye of the warden, would be better treated than at present, is not conclusive. It would depend largely upon the warden. The law now throws around the convict its protection, regulating his hours of labor, his food, his clothing, his general treatment when well, his care when sick, and his punishments, and the requirements of the law are embodied in contracts which it is the warden's duty to enforce. A warden who would neglect this duty, would not probably be more diligent or faithful if given a more direct control under circumstances surrounding him with temptations. There is no instance on record, so far as I am informed, where a warden has taken steps to rescind a contract for a violation of its stipulations for the protection of convicts, though there is abundant evidence of utter disregard of the stipulations by contractors. If in course of time, a weak or a corrupt man should become warden, it is easy to see how the interests of the State might be more entirely subordinated to the interests of a single powerful contractor or body of contractors than is possible while numerous contractors representing diverse interests keep watch over each other and over a common adversary. A contractor, who without the personal supervision of the warden would violate the conditions of his agreement to the injury of the State, or outrage humanity at the expense of the prisoner, would not hesitate to use a warden who might weakly or wickedly submit himself to his wishes. As a plan of the magnitude of that proposed by the warden could not be soon abandoned after once being adopted, a possibility of this sort, no matter how remote it seems, is not to be overlooked. Other objections to the warden's plan are forcibly suggested by the inspectors in their reports.

THE PENITENTIARY FARM.

On the 29th of March, 1873, Governor Lewis approved an act to authorize the warden of the penitentiary, with the approval of the inspectors, and with the consent and approval of the Governor, "to purchase for, and in the name of the State of Alabama, a suitable tract or parcel of land, containing not more than two thousand acres," "to be first-class farming land, and in a healthful locality," at a price not to exceed $50,000. To pay for this, the Governor was authorized to issue eight per centum bonds payable in ten years. The faith and credit of the State was pledged "that the net profits arising from the cultivation of said plantation or farm shall be used for the payment of principal and interest" of the bonds thus authorized. The eighth section of the act declared, "that in no event shall the State of Alabama become, or made, or held liable for the payment of any bonds issued under the provisions of this act, beyond the value of the issues and profits derived from said lands, after deducting the expenses in conducting and operating said farm." Very soon after the approval of this act, in time to attempt to make a crop that year, what is now known as the penitentiary farm was bought from Thomas Williams, for fifty thousand dollars, and bonds to that amount were issued in payment. The farm is situated on the Tallapoosa river, in Elmore county, and contains about 2,000 acres. The State operated this place about two years, with the result which has invariably attended its attempts to conduct and manage business enterprises. There were worms to destroy cotton in cultivation, and floods and overflows and drought, and net profits were not realized. On the 10th of March, 1875, an act was passed authorizing the Governor to change the contract with Mr. Williams, and it was so changed that the bonds were returned and cancelled, and in place of them, as payment for the farm, the services of one hundred convicts for eight years were given, at the expiration of which period the farm is to be delivered into the possession of the State. This contract will terminate on the 1st of January next, and it will soon be necessary to determine what use or disposition shall be made of the property thus acquired.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message was received from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Jan. 31, 1883.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

It becomes my painful and mortifying duty to inform you that Isaac H. Vincent, the Treasurer of Alabama, is short in his accounts with the State, and has left the city. This fact was made known by Mr. Vincent in the following note to Mr. A. D. Crawford, the clerk in his office, dated the 29th instant, which was received by Mr. Crawford, the afternoon of the 30th instant, and was communicated to me at 8:30 p. m. of that day.

STATE OF ALABAMA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
MONTGOMERY, ALA., Jan. 29, 1883.

Dear Crawford: — "I find this evening that my money is not here, neither has it been paid over to the Importers and Traders Bank as promised. I leave for New York to straighten the whole matter. I have perhaps waited too long, and will be censured; but I have no idea of running away. I wish you would assist the committee, and after a balance is ascertained, ask them to wait a day, and telegraph me care of Fred Wolfe, New York. If anything happens to me, I wish to state positively and emphatically, that being behind in my cash is my fault, and that you have had nothing to do with it.

Your Friend,
I. H. VINCENT."

(signed)

The amount of Mr. Vincent's defalcation can only be ascertained after a careful examination of the Treasurer's books, and a careful count of the money in the treasury; but a hurried and partial investigation indicates that it is more than two hundred thousand dollars. It is not known by what train or in what direction Mr. Vincent left Montgomery. Means have been adopted to intercept and detain him if possible. It is believed the State is largely secured against ultimate loss. The two houses will have communicated to them from time to time any further information that come into my possession.

E. A. O'NEAL,
Governor.

The message was referred to the joint committee to investigate the Treasurer's accounts.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER,

January 31, 1883.

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has concurred in the House joint resolution, raising a joint committee to investigate the condition of the State Treasury, and the President has appointed on said committee, Messrs. Brewer, McSpadden and McClellan.

W. L. CLAY,
Secretary.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

Looking to the arrest of Mr. Vincent, the defaulting State Treasurer, the police of the principal cities of the union have been notified of his offense and flight, and furnished with a description of his person. The assistance of Pinkerton's detective agency has been secured. A description of the fugitive was furnished the Associated Press, and yesterday morning was published in nearly every daily paper in the country; but I am not authorized by law to offer any adequate reward, and this incentive to effort is lacking, and precious time is being lost. I should be instructed to offer a reward of five thousand dollars without further delay.

8. Your committee further recommend that section 35 of the Code be amended so that it shall be the duty of examining committees to make the required examinations to cover for such fiscal year as the General Assembly may not be in session, and that legislation be taken so that such examinations as are provided for in said section 35 of the Code, shall also extend to the offices of all the State officers having charge of moneys belonging to the State.

9. Your committee urgently suggest that the time allowed by law is not adequate for the proper performance of the duties required of them (unless members of the General Assembly on such committees shall neglect all other duties) to make proper and critical examination of the books and papers, of the money receiving and disbursing State officials, and would recommend that legislation be taken authorizing the Governor (when in his opinion the public interest so requires; but said examinations must be ordered at least twice in each fiscal year) to at any time employ an accountant (who shall be an expert) to examine and report upon the books and accounts of the Treasurer and Auditor and of all officers of the State intrusted with the care of public moneys of the State.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Also, a resolution offered by Mr. Hall, which was tabled temporarily.

Mr. Smith of Autauga, from the committee on counties and county boundaries, made the following report:

The committee on counties and county boundaries, to which was referred the resolution by which said committee was requested to inquire and investigate the law as to the county boundaries between the county of Crenshaw and the county of Montgomery, and examine the act, approved November 30th, 1866, and the certificate of the Secretary of State, by which said county of Crenshaw was organized, and report by bill, or otherwise, if any legislation is necessary, to define the boundary line between the county of Crenshaw and the county of Montgomery, have had the same under consideration and instruct me to report that no legislation is necessary to define said boundary line. The committee found, on examination, that there is a variance between the printed act, approved November 24th, 1866, establishing the county of Crenshaw, and the enrolled bill in the office of the Secretary of State. The former gives to said county of Crenshaw, township 12 of range 18, when the enrolled copy of said bill does not. The committee hold that the enrolled bill is the law of the case, and as the county of Crenshaw now exercises jurisdiction over the boundaries fixed by said enrolled bill, it is the opinion of the committee that no further legislation on the subject is necessary, and therefore ask to be discharged from further consideration of said resolution.

The report of the committee was concurred in.

Also, from the same committee, reported favorably to the bill---

H. B. 702. To repeal an act to authorize the commissioners court, or court or board of county revenues of the counties of Marengo, Sumter, Montgomery, Hale, Dallas, Autauga, Wilcox, Lowndes, Russell, Monroe, Lawrence and Perry, to establish or abolish districts in which stock may be prevented from running at large, so far as the same relates to Dallas county;

Mr. Speaker :

The committee on engrossed bills have examined the following bills and find them correctly engrossed, viz:

H. B. 537. To fix the time of holding the Circuit Courts in the 6th judicial circuit of the State of Alabama.

Mr. John submitted the following protest :

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives :

I respectfully ask leave to enter on the journal this, my protest against the passage of an act to authorize the Governor to provide for the safe deposit of the State's funds, and assign the following reasons for this protest :

The second clause of § 54, Art. 4, of the Constitution of Alabama, is as follows: "Nor shall the State be interested in any private or corporate enterprise, or lend money or its credit to any individual, association or corporation."

The surplus, if any, in the State Treasury, arises solely from taxes exacted by law of the citizen, and is raised for the sole purpose of paying the necessary expenses of the State, including the interest on the public debt. To apply any part of the State's funds, raised by taxation, to any purpose whatever, other than for the purpose for which the tax was levied and collected, is to commit a great wrong against the tax payers.

To take the money raised by taxation and lend it to the banks to be by them lent to the very people from whom it was taken by law, and at a very high rate of interest, while the State gets no interest from the banks is a grievous wrong, in fact, a crime against the people.

Respectfully submitted,

S. W. JOHN.

On motion of Mr. Vines, the Senate was requested to return the bill—

H. B. 138. To define some of the duties of the State Board of Health.

Mr. Avery moved to reconsider the vote by which the bill—

W. G. HUTCHESON,
Recording Secretary.

Mr. Powell gave notice that he would, on to-morrow, move to reconsider the vote by which the bill, H. B. 756, was passed this morning.

FIRST SPECIAL ORDER.

The special order, which was the consideration of the bill, H. B. 324, was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Brown of wood of Franklin, Vines, Watlington, Williams, Wharton, Whitt, Young of Marion, Young of Pickens---49.

Nays---Messrs. Anderson, Armstrong, Beck of Wilcox, Berry, Brewer, Brown of Tuscaloosa, Dunklin, Fuller, Grant, Grisham, Hall, Hamilton, Hawkins of Jefferson, Hogue, Langdon, May, Muldon, Nevill, Orme, Powell, Purifoy, Raisler, Russell, Shackelford, Tatum, Walker, Wood---27.

The House adjourned to 4 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Leave of absence was granted Messrs. McIntyre and Hawkins of Shelby.

Mr. Simpson, by leave, from the committee on corporations, reported a substitute for the bill---

H. B. 711. To alter and amend the charter of the city of Huntsville, as established by an act approved March 3, 1870, entitled an act to establish a new charter for the city of Huntsville, and an act approved February 13, 1871, entitled an act to amend an act to establish a new charter for the city of Huntsville;

On motion of Mr. Hawkins of Jefferson, the consideration of the report was postponed and made the special order for 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Clayton submitted the following minority report to the report of the majority of the committee to the bill, H. B. 711:

The minority report of the committee on corporations respectfully shows, that they do not agree or concur in the report recommending the passage of a bill, or the substitute for the bill, to amend the charter of the city of Huntsville, because they believe---

1. A majority of the legal voters of said city are opposed to the measure; and the bill was first referred to the committee on local legislation, which decided against the bill.

2. A majority of the freeholders of said city are opposed to the said amendments.

3. The Senators and Representatives from the county in which said city is situated, are all opposed to said bill and substitute.

4. The mayor and aldermen of said town, elected by the voters thereof, by resolution presented before the committee, protesting against the passage of said amendments.

5. The theory upon which the friends of the measure urged it, was, that it was favored by the owners of the greater portion of the property of said city. We do not find this to be true. But, if it were true, we do not endorse the position that a municipal corporation is a stock company, to be governed by the voters in proportion to the amount of their property therein.

6. The bill and substitute divides the town into wards different from their present sub-divisions. We find that the present charter divides the town into wards, and then contains this provision: "But the board of mayor and aldermen of said city may alter and change the boundaries of said wards as they deem expedient."

7. Said bill and substitute tends towards centralization and is opposed to the real, true, old-time democratic principles of local self government.

They respectfully request that this minority report be entered on the journals as their protest against this bill and substitute.

W. H. CLAYTON,
JOHN H. PORTER,
L. H. GOREE.

Consideration of the minority report was postponed and made special order for 11 o'clock to-morrow.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,

Montgomery, Ala., February 19, 1883.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In response to the joint resolution of the two Houses of this date, I respectfully inform you that the Warden of the penitentiary has no official bond filed and recorded in the office of the State Auditor, as required by section 4535 of the Code. The Warden claims, that before entering upon his duties, he made such bond, and that it was approved by the Governor. It is proper also to say, that the Warden, learning that his bond was not on file, and was not recorded in the proper office, first informed me of the fact. He was at once required to substitute for the missing bond, a new bond covering the entire period of his administration, and reasonable time was given him in which to do this. No other State official is performing the duties of his office without the bond required by law.

E. A. O'NEAL,
Governor.

Mr. Hawkins, of Jefferson, presented the following protest:

I beg leave to have entered upon the journal of the House, my protest against the passage of the bill, (S. B. 144), in regard to the hiring of State and county convicts.

1. Because the certain effect of the bill is to mass the convicts, both State and county, in Jefferson county, in my opinion against the interest and wishes of the people of that county.

2. It breaks up the penitentiary at Wetumpka, built with the money of the State, and transfers it to temporary camps.

3. It fails to provide for the return of the convict on the expiration of his term of imprisonment, to the county where he was convicted.

4. Its tendency is to throw the coal industry of Alabama into the hands of lessees of convicts, and while it may not create an absolute monopoly in it, its tendency is to drive out all competition in mining coal with free labor.

5. It keeps up the irritation now so prevalent in regard to our convict system, and throws the Democratic party on the defensive.

6. It aims at making as much money out of the convict as possible without regard to his reform.

Respectfully,

JAS. E. HAWKINS.

Messrs. Wood and Hammond, presented the following protest:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Montgomery, Ala., February 23, 1883.

The undersigned, members of this House, respectfully request that their protest be entered on the journal against the passage of Senate bill, No. 193, entitled an act to prevent monopolies in the transportation of freight, and to secure free and fair competition in the same.

For the following reasons:

1. That in their belief, said bill will have an effect directly the reverse of its title.

2. Because we believe experience in many of the States has demonstrated that legislation of this character, has been injurious to both the people and railroads.

3. Because the workings of the railroad commission in this State, with recommendatory powers, has been satisfactory up to this time to all interests, and we believe it better to hold fast to the present system, which is also justified by experience, than to venture upon a course of legislation which has no satisfactory precedent to justify it.

Respectfully,

S. A. M. WOOD,
J. D. HAMMOND.

Mr. Simpson, from the committee on corporations, reported favorably to the bill—

S. B. 209. To raise a fund for the benefit of the fire companies in the city of Birmingham; ty superintendent has failed to settle his accounts, if so, to report the names of all such, and the amounts due by such county superintendents," have had the same under consideration and instruct me to report—

From the statement of the Superintendent of Education, it appears, that county superintendents named in the same, are behind in their accounts in the aggregate sum of $40,537.97.

Since this statement was furnished, S. G. Woolf, superintendent of Marengo county to 30th September of 1881, reported $3,711.84 behind in his accounts, and with whom a settlement was pending, has settled up in full all his indebtedness to the school fund.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,

February 23, 1883.

To the House of Representatives :

I approve this act because I believe it presents an exceptional and meritorious case, not provided for by existing law. But I do not mean this to be a precedent for my future action. The marriage relation is so intimately connected with the good of society, that it should not be subject to the unbending rules of judicial decision; hence general principles, while they are of great weight and in ordinary cases should prevail, ought not to be permitted to work an absolute exclusion of a wise discretion, which can be only exercised by the legislative power.

E. A. O'NEAL,
Governor.

Mr. John, from a special committee on the subject, presented the following report, which was ordered spread upon the journal :

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives :

The committee of the House of Representatives who were charged with enquiring :

Whether the warden of the penitentiary has on file, as required by law, an official bond, and if no bond is on file, the reason therefor ;

Whether said warden has rendered statements of his account as warden that are inconsistent with each other ;

Whether said warden has allowed any convicts to be worked by persons who had no legal contract therefor ;

Whether said warden has paid, out of the funds coming into his hands as warden, any attorneys' fees ; if so, to whom paid, how much, and by what authority ;

Whether said warden has given his whole time and attention to the discharge of his duties as warden, or has spent any time, if so, how much, in the lobby of the two houses of this Legislature ;

Have given as much time as they could, while not in their seats in the House, to the consideration of the matters specified in said resolutions ; but, owing to the very limited time before the final adjournment of the Legislature, the committee could not prosecute said investigation to a satisfactory conclusion, but have drawn out the following facts :

Prior to entering upon the duties of warden, Mr. Bankhead executed and delivered to the Governor an official bond, which was approved, but was not filed or recorded in the Auditor's office, and there is no trace of said bond in the executive office nor in the Auditor's office, nor could the committee find or hear of any person who saw said bond after it was approved. Governor O'Neal stated to the committee that Governor Cobb says he filed this bond with the Auditor. The Auditor says he has no recollection of ever seeing the bond, and never discovered that it was not on file till a few days ago, when he called the warden's attention thereto, whereupon he and the warden went to the Governor and informed him that there was no official bond of the warden on file in the Auditor's office. The Governor at once took advice of the Attorney-General, and required the warden to have executed an official bond. This bond was prepared, reciting the loss of the original, and sent by the warden to the county of his former residence, about the 10th or 12th of this month, to be signed by the same sureties who were bound on the original bond.

The Governor requested this bond should be executed and presented to him by the 19th inst., but on account of the remote situation of the residence of the sureties and the irregularity of mail, it has not yet been returned. On the 19th inst., the warden executed and tendered to the Governor, a new bond with solvent sureties, which bond has been approved by the Governor.

About the second week of the present session of the Legislature, the warden filed in the executive office his report as warden of the penitentiary, accompanied by statements of his accounts.

Upon examination of his statement, as tabulated under the heads, "table A" and "table B," there were discovered errors that were pointed out to him. He readily admitted these errors and withdrew the statement as first made, and submitted, and in a few days filed a corrected or different statement, which is published as "table A," on page 25 of the report of the inspectors of the penitentiary that was submitted about the middle of November, 1882, to Governor Cobb. A copy of the statement of account, as first submitted, was kept by the Governor's private secretary, and is now on file in the executive office; from this is copied the statement that is herewith submitted as exhibit A to this report, and with it a copy of "table A," as found on page 25 of the printed report of the inspectors above referred to, as exhibit B.

A comparison of these two statements shows "the amount earned by convict labor" charged on exhibit A, is $59,824.60, and the same charge, as shown on exhibit B, is $56,440.58, showing a difference in favor of the warden of $3,384.02.

On exhibit A, the credit for expenses from March 1st, 1881, is $9,669.74; on exhibit B, this credit is $9,931.29; a difference in favor of the warden of $261.55.

On exhibit A appears the item:

Amount collected and disbursed by Bass to March 1st, 1881, $13,824.86.

This amount was deducted as a credit, and next to the last item on exhibit A, is a credit of $3,795.68, "expenses to March 1, 1881." This item of $3,795.68, was included in the credit already taken of $13,824.86, and the remainder of this $13,824.86 item, to-wit; $10,029.18 was included in the credit of $50,029.18. See Auditor's report, September 30, 1881, page 26. In this way the warden obtained credit for this sum of $13,824.86, twice, when he was only entitled to that credit one time. On exhibit A, the item, "expenses to March 1, 1881," is $3,795.68, whereas, on exhibit B, it is stated thus: "Expenses, Jno. G. Bass, from October 1, 1880, to March 1, 1881," $4,795.48, making a difference in favor of the warden, on this item, of $1,000.

The warden's explanation of this difference of $1,000, is this: Bass took $1,000 of funds of the penitentiary, as extra compensation, and the warden demanded it of him, and under threatened suit on Bass' bond, collected this sum from Bass. If Bass included this $1,000 in the $3,795.68 disbursed by him, then the present warden would not be entitled to this sum as a credit, which he has taken, as shown on exhibit B, by making Bass' expenses from October 1, 1880, to March 1, 1881, $4,795.48, instead of $3,795.68, as stated on exhibit A.

If Bass did not include this $1,000 in the amount disbursed by him, viz: $3,795.68, then when he refunded it, the present warden should be charged therewith, simply, and no credit on this account of this amount should be allowed him. He states that he included this sum in the gross charge of $56,440.58, the first item on exhibit B. If so, he has also taken credit on same statement for this $1,000 in the item of $4,795.48, which is clearly wrong.

The warden admitted that the two statements rendered by him were inconsistent, but could not explain how these errors came in the accounts, further than that the first statement, exhibit A, was made out by his book-keeper, and he presumed it was correct, and without examining it, filed it in the Executive office. He claims that the statement of his account, as shown on exhibit B, is correct, and corresponds to his books. He offered his books for the inspection of the committee, but the committee had not the time nor opportunity of going through his books, and ascertaining that statement of which exhibit B is a copy, was correct or not, and for this reason the committee is unable to say which statement is correct, or that either is correct or not.

The warden made a contract with R. J. Thornton, which was approved by the Governor, April 27th, 1881, for the hire of one hundred and twenty-five convicts, more or less. From this contract the committee extract the following: "This contract to take effect on the first day of May, 1881, and terminates on the first day of May, 1882." In February or March, or April, 1882, the warden says that his attention was called to the cruel treatment of convicts hired to said Thornton under this contract, and in a short time thereafter sent Mr. McDonald, one of the inspectors of the penitentiary, to examine into the condition of these convicts and report their treatment and condition. That said inspector made the examination, and reported the convicts in a bad condition, poorly fed and clothed, and very cruelly treated, and that said Thornton was not a suitable person to have the control of convicts. The inspector says he visited the camp near Birmingham in April, 1882, and found the convicts, about forty or fifty, confined at night in a room about 16x18, that was very filthy, and the convicts were poorly fed and clothed, with no provision made for the sick, and no physician called in case of serious sickness, and no medicines provided except lobelia and boneset tea, which were administered alike in all cases of sickness. That two convicts had died at this pen a short time before, and he was informed by convicts and guards, that they lay on the bare ground, in an open space, between the pen in which the guards slept, and that in which the convicts were confined, where there was no fire during their sickness and till they died, and that no physician was called to see them, and no medicines given them except boneset tea and lobelia. Upon his return he reported this condition of Thornton's convicts to the Governor and to the warden, and told the warden that "Thornton was killing the men, and not to let him have any more."

Notwithstanding this report, made in April, 1882, when said contract terminated by its expressed terms on first May, 1882, the warden suffered said Thornton to keep said convicts till about the 20th January, 1883.

About the time this contract expired, the warden wrote on the margin thereof, these words:

"It is further agreed, that this contract may be continued from year to year for five years, provided the said R. J. Thornton complies fully with all its requirements."

JOHN H. BANKHEAD,

Warden.

The contractor Thornton did not sign this memorandum, nor give any new bond, nor did his sureties or himself consent to the same, but it was simply ex parte. Thus it was that about forty convicts were worked by said Thornton from first of May, 1882, to about 20th January, 1883, without any contract, bond or security. During most of this period, said convicts were worked in a mine called "Coaling" in Tuscaloosa county, and the warden and inspector McDonald, both visited that camp, and found about the same kind of quarters as before described, and that the convicts were worked in the mine with very little clothing, in some instances with only a ragged shirt that did not cover half of the body. Their food was very poor in quality, and not much over half enough, and their treatment cruel.

Thornton was not present at any time that his camp at "Coaling" was visited by the warden or Inspector McDonald, and the convicts were worked and controlled by N. D. Johnson.

On pages 65 and 66 of Inspectors' and Warden's Reports will be found a tabulated statement of the number of convicts hired by said Thornton, and the prices per month he paid for them, from May 1, 1882, the date when his contract expired.

From this statement it appears that during one month he had eight dead-heads, for which he paid nothing, yet the inspector, McDonald, and the warden both testify that Johnson told them he paid Thornton twelve dollars per month for all convicts. Many of those for which Thornton received $12.00 per month, he paid the warden $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 per month.

When the warden was enjoined at the suit of J. W. Comer, he went to the Governor and requested him to direct the Attorney-General to defend said suit, but the Governor declined to do so, as it was not the duty of the Attorney-General to defend such suits. The warden then requested the Governor to employ counsel to defend that suit. This the Governor declined to do, giving as his reason therefor, that it was a suit against the warden as an individual, and he would not employ counsel at the expense of the State to defend such a suit.

The warden then employed Messrs. Troy and Tompkins, who were paid by a recovery from the complainant on the injunction bond, after the injunction was dissolved.

Immediately afterwards, a writ of mandamus was served on the warden at the suit of J. W. Comer, and the warden employed Messrs. Troy and Tompkins to represent him in that proceeding. He says he did not ask the Governor to employ counsel to defend this proceeding, as the Governor had declined a similar request a short time before, in reference to the bill in equity and the injunction thereon.

The warden paid his attorneys for their professional services in the mandamus proceeding $250.00, out of funds belonging to the penitentiary. We know of no law that authorized this; but the inspectors audited and allowed this item, and Inspector McDonald says he thought it reasonable.

The warden admits that he has spent one-half, may be two-thirds of his time, since this Legislature has been in session, in the lobby of the two houses. That he tried to impress his views upon the convict question and the proper legislation thereon, upon members of the Senate and House. That when the House passed the substitute for the Senate bill on the subject of convicts, he prepared amendments, which he gave to members of the Senate and urged them to engraft them upon the House bill. That he was anxious to have the bill amended, particularly, so as to deprive the Governor of the power of removing the warden, and prepared an amendment, in substance the same as that adopted by the Senate, which took from the Governor the power of removal, and provided for the impeachment of the warden, and that he handed this amendment to a Senator and requested him to propose it and advocate its adoption. The warden says he did not think he should be removed by the Governor, and that he had as much right to be impeached as other officers. It was adopted.

On account of the very short time, from the raising of the committee till the adjournment of the General Assembly, we have been unable to prosecute the investigation further than we have reported above, and therefore refrain from attempting to draw any conclusion, other than as above stated, or to make any recommendation on the subject, lest we do injustice.
